

The context

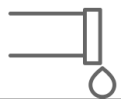

Hurricane Matthew hit Haiti on 4 October 2016 destroying over 90% of homes in some areas.

As a result, 175,000 people were living in temporary shelters.

806,000 people were in urgent need of food assistance.

750,000 people were in need of clean drinking water.

Our response

469,200

Men, women and children were directly assisted by Integral Members.

45,000

People benefited from food distributions.

122,100

People received water filters, hygiene kits and chlorine to improve access to safe drinking water.

Medical treatments

249,400

People can be treated with the drugs and medical supplies shipped to Haiti.

Cash transfers

96,700

People benefited from direct cash transfers or cash for work and livelihood support.

Essential household items

74,700

Vulnerable people received equipment like kitchen utensils and mosquito nets.

Shelter Repair kits

36,700

People received shelter repair kits.

Building materials

31,150

People were assisted with construction materials to rebuild damaged buildings.

Disease prevention

29,700

Men, women and children were reached through a disease prevention programme.

6

Integral Members pooled funds to support a grassroots, church-led response. This reached 6,400 people through 61 local churches.

4

Integral Members worked together to rapidly assess the need and deliver urgent assistance in nine of the worst affected communes. Together they reached 15,750 people in the immediate aftermath of the hurricane.

6 Oct
2016

Integral Disaster Response launched

17 Integral Members are working together to respond to this disaster